The site is positioned on the east side of Fairfield Road and falls within the London Borough of Tower Hamlets.

The site is located to the south of Bow Quarter, within easy walking distance of a good public transport system in the form of Bow Church DLR and underground stations.

The local road network is excellent with the A12 heading east and the M11 extension providing a direct route to Stansted Airport and The North. The link road south through the Blackwall tunnel, connects with the A2/M2 through Kent and the Thames Gateway.

The site, which extends to approximately 0.599ha (1.479 acres) was formerly a wholesale and office unit. The property fronts both Fairfield Road to the west and Wick Lane to the east. Bow Garage flanks the southern edge of the site and a rail line flanks it to the north.
