The site is located on the western side of Coborn Road, on the corner of Cherrywood Close, near the junction of Coborn Road and Antill Road. The site comprises a long narrow parcel of land (0.23 hectares) running parallel to the railway line.

The site benefits from good transport links, being situated within a 5-10 min walking distance of both Mile End and Bow Road underground stations. There are local bus routes along Roman Road and Bow Road.

The property was previously occupied by the ROK Group PLC, trading as Llewellyn (general building contractors), for light-industrial, office and storage purposes. The site is bordered by a conservation area to the north and east. Beyond the railway lines to the south, is the attractive Tredegar Square conservation area.

Aitch Group acquired this site and achieved a strong residential planning consent with the building covering 100% of the site.

Aitch Construction delivered this project on time and on budget.
